INDIAN COINAGES HISTORY THROUGH INDEPENDENT PRINCELY STATES

KUTCH : State located in Northwest India, consisting of the peninsula north of the Gulf of Kutch. The Ruler's of the Kutch were the Jareja/Jadeja Rajput's, who came from Tatta in Sindh, they conquered Kutch in the 14th & 15th Centuries.

The Capital city BHUJ is founded in Mid-Sixteenth Century. The first coinage was struck in 1617 AD after Akbar's conquest & the fall of Gujarat Sultans.

Kutch remains virtually independent through out the Mughal period as Rao Bharmal I visited Jahangir and established a warm relationship.

Due to internal conflicts, rival claimants and disorders in early 19th century Rao Bharmalji II was deposed & Rao Dasalji II was posted on the throne by the British Intrusion into the State Affairs.

Rao Desalji II proved to be more amenable to the wishes of the Government, as he & his successor's ruled in the manner considered by the Britishers.

Maharao Khengarji III was created a Knight Grand Commander of the Indian Empire. After Independence Kutch came under the direct control of the Central Government of India.
